1. We have learnt the difference between a deterministic model and a statistical model. Please give me an example (in your field or interest) that statistical model is better than deterministic model. Describe it in detail.